

Subprime mortgages and the wild overpricing of homes laid the groundwork for the *largest wealth grab from people of color since slavery!

It's still going on, with people diligently paying overpriced subprime mortgages to avoid foreclosure.

- Want to understand how this happened?
- Know anybody who was foreclosed?
- Know anybody fighting to save their home from foreclosure?
- Know anybody still paying on a wildly overprice subprime mortgage?

Subprime mortgages (often referred to as “mud people” or “ghetto loans”) were targeted at communities of color and female heads of household. The vast majority of subprime foreclosures happened between 2005 and 2009. The median wealth lost in African American communities in those years was 53%--more than half the wealth; in Latino households 66% of the wealth was taken; in Asian households, 54% was taken.

The time has come to come together, learn our rights, and turn the tide on the injustice of foreclosures and predatory mortgages!
